SRNS Aids Habitat for Humanity Effort

AIKEN, S.C. – June 18, 2010 – Savannah River Nuclear Solutions (SRNS) has joined with local citizens to come to the aid of the North Augusta chapter of Habitat for Humanity.

The charity has a drive underway to replace tools that were recently stolen in a storage shed burglary. Habitat volunteers use the tools to construct affordable housing for local people in need.

SRNS donated $6,417 in corporate funds to help replace the stolen equipment.

“We learned of this situation from local news reports, and immediately looked to see what we could do,” said Fred Dohse, Executive Vice President for SRNS. “Not only do we have a significant number of employees from North Augusta, we also have a great regard for the work that Habitat for Humanity does. We are honored to have the opportunity to help.” Dohse currently serves on the Board of Directors for the Aiken County chapter of Habitat for Humanity.

SRNS is currently the primary sponsor of a Habitat for Humanity home under construction in Jackson, South Carolina, the first such project in that community. The home is expected to be complete later this summer.

SRNS, the Savannah River Site’s largest contractor organization, is a Fluor-Daniel partnership comprised of Fluor, Northrop Grumman and Honeywell.
